

RATES IN MANY NATIONS RISE FROM MULTI-YEAR LOWS

NRI deposits fall $6.84 bn in 5 months from Apr-Aug

Fall has much to do with rise in interest rates globally

GEORGE MATTHEW & HITESH VYAS
Mumbai, October 18

WITH THE RUPEE declining and the dollar strengthening, non-resident Indians (NRIs) are taking a cautious approach in depositing funds in the deposit schemes of Indian commercial banks.

NRI deposits have fallen by $6.84 billion to $134.68 billion as of August 2022 from $141.52 billion a year ago as interest rates and bond yields in many countries, led by the US, rose from multi-year lows.

Deposit flow from NRIs in the five-month period of April-August 2022 came down to $1.435 billion from $2.44 billion in August 2021. The biggest decline was in the NRE scheme which came down to $906 million from $2.464 billion a year ago, according to data from the Reserve Bank of India.

The fall has much to do with the rise in interest rates globally, especially the US, and yields. NRIs who deposited money on December 31, 2021 when the rupee was at 74.29 against the dollar are now sitting

■ NRI deposits have fallen by $6.84 billion to $134.68 billion as of August 2022 from $141.52 billion a year ago

■ NRIs who deposited money on Dec 31, 2021 when the ₹ was at 74.29 against the dollar are now sitting on a loss as the currency has fallen 10.87% since then ting on a loss as the currency has fallen 10.87% since then. When conversion from the rupee to dollars happens on repatriation, more rupees are required due to the currency depreciation. On top of this, with interest rates rising in the US and other remittance regions, there's hardly any incentive for NRIs to bring funds to India.

According to a banking analyst, in FCNR (B) deposits, there is no risk of currency depreciation. The liability of the bank is in dollars. "There is a challenge for banks in getting incremental FCNR (B) deposits as globally the rates are much higher as compared to India. There is no attraction for customers to go for FCNR (B) deposits," he said.

However, in NRE — which accounts for 72% of the total NRI deposits — and NRO deposits, there is a currency risk. "When the outlook on the rupee is that it will depreciate, then nobody will put money into NRE or NRO deposits, which are rupee-denominated deposits. The interest rate will not compensate for the decline in the currency," he said.

Currently, interest rates on FCNR(B) deposits are subject to ceilings of overnight Alternative Reference Rate (ARR) for the respective currency/ swap plus 250 basis points for deposits of 1-3 years maturity and overnight ARR plus 350 basis points for deposits of 3-5 years maturity. In the case of NRE deposits, interest rates should not be higher than those offered by the banks on comparable domestic rupee term deposits.

"I think even during FY22, the flow of NRI deposits reduced substantially. Probably, NRIs found it less attractive to invest in Indian deposits because of the rise in yields globally and the risk of depreciating currency. During the current financial year, there has been further hardening of interest rates globally," said a banking source. Banks have also hiked the interest rates on NRI deposit schemes in line with the rise in repo rates.

It has also contributed to the decline in India's forex reserves which fell by $110 billion to $532.86 billion since 2021 in the wake of dollar appreciation and capital outflows from India.

Modi calls for global cooperation to eliminate safe havens for the corrupt

FE BUREAU
New Delhi, October 18

PRIME MINISTER NARENDRA Modi on Tuesday called for global cooperation to eliminate safe havens for the corrupt, terrorists and criminals.

"When threats are global, the response cannot be just local! It is high time that the world comes together to defeat these threats," Modi said while inaugurating the 90th General Assembly of Interpol here.

Corruption and financial crimes have harmed the welfare of the citizens of many countries, he said.

India has been struggling to extradite several fugitive economic offenders, including businessman Vijay Mallya and Nirav Modi.

"The corrupt find a way to

park the proceeds of crime in different parts of the world," Modi said.

From illegal drugs that destroy young lives to human trafficking, from weakening democracies to the sale of illegal arms, this dirty money funds many destructive enterprises, he said.

"Yes, there are diverse legal and procedural frameworks to deal with them. However, there is a need for the global community to work even faster to eliminate safe havens. There can be no safe havens for the corrupt, terrorists, drug cartels, poaching gangs or organised crime," he said.

Modi said police and law enforcement agencies need to devise procedures and protocols to increase cooperation. Interpol can help by speeding up Red Corner Notices for fugitive offenders, he added.

"Establishment of early detection and warning systems, protecting transportation services, security for communication infrastructure, security for critical infrastructure, technical and technological assistance, intelligence exchange, many of these things need to be taken to a new level," Modi said.

The 90th General Assembly of INTERPOL is being held from October 18 to 21. The meeting will be attended by delegations from 195 INTERPOL member countries comprising ministers, police chiefs of countries, heads of national central bureaus and senior police officers.
